SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

The School Board of Springfield, N. H.:

In connection with your annual report to the Springfield School District I would like to comment on several things which have interested me about the schools and the pupils which attend them.

One of the finest attitudes which a community can take towards its school has been evidenced in the Center District, viz. a volunteer attempt to improve the school by private enterprise with no cost to the school district. In one other community in my union has a similar thing been done this year but on a smaller scale. It is a revival of the old fashioned neighborly spirit of helping each other which has made New England small towns so nice a place in which to live; only in this case the neighborliness was evidenced toward the school. I refer to the fine contribution of money and labor and materials to improve the grounds of the Center school and to make a playground safe for the children.

School districts in general are fast coming to the situation, indeed many have already arrived, where it is no longer possible to provide for larger expenditures for their schools. Many school districts are feeling serious need of retrenching, though much against their will, on expenditures which have been customary in the past, and some form of return to the spirit evidenced in community enterprises like "barn-raising" and "corn-huskings" and "swapping work" only in a different form and applied to community schools is becoming a next step. After all nothing makes a thing worth so much to us as putting labor into it and community schools will be better appreciated and more enthusiastically supported the more people volunteer their services in their behalf. The more we visit them, become acquainted with the teachers, render what help we can give to them, give something to them, all for the benefit of our own and our neighbors' children, the better schools we will have.

Personally I appreciate this volunteer help in improving the Center School grounds. Those who have done the work have done a splendid job and a playground larger than I expected could be made was provided and the fence guarantees safety for its users.

Another thing I wish to note, and one which will perhaps surprise many people, is the result of a test given by the teachers in all schools in the five towns comprising Superintendency Union No. 13, which is our number, which had pupils in grade 8. These were tests which have been given very widely in many states and are supposed to show knowledge on the part of pupils which entitles them to a diploma from our elementary schools. Here is the noteworthy fact for Springfield people, the highest score in thirteen schools containing grade 8 pupils was made by a pupil in the Maxfield School. The second highest, a very close second, was made by a pupil in the Junior High School of Enfield, the third by a pupil in a rural school in Enfield.

It is curious to note that the first and third highest examination scores were made by pupils in rural schools in view of criticism of our rural schools in New Hampshire which bursts forth occasionally.

The tests were as follows: Two in arithmetic, two in reading, one each in grammar, literature, history, geography, language usage, and spelling, ten all told.

Again this year we have two teachers in Center School teaching four grades each. Such an arrangement is working out very satisfactorily except for the fact that the school building is not adapted for two teachers. The educational work done in the primary grades is better than could be expected from a single teacher for the whole school. The first three grades are the most important in the whole school, with the possible exception of the eighth grade, because it is there that certain basic habits of school study should be formed, and a thorough ability to do simple reading begins. A good start in those grades is half the whole school battle.

Let me in closing these comments, express my appreciation of the cooperation of all the teachers and of the school board. I feel especially grateful for the support and help which the school board have given me during the past year; such sympathy with my efforts lends considerable courage for further endeavor in the future.

Respectfully submitted,

H. HOWARD PRATT.
